

According to Little, Abraham and Deborah's second son, Harrison Swango, married Annie Rose in 1837. Among their children were Captain David Franklin Swango, commanding officer of Company E (CSA), who was killed at Mt. Sterling in 1864, when John Hunt Morgan's Raiders took the town; and Lieutenant William H. Swango, who was killed in action in Virginia, while fighting with Confederate forces against Union troops, and is buried at Tazewell, Virginia.

As history sometimes takes strange turns to reach certain roads, descendants of the young Abraham Swango, who helped George Washington plant trees and beautify his grounds in Virginia, married into the Nancy Hanks family.

Emilie Jane Swango, the daughter of Abraham and Deborah, married William F. Hanks, the grandson of Fielding and Lydia Harper Hanks, and grandson of Abraham Hanks.

Jesse Swango, son of Abraham and Deborah, was married on September 11, 1852, in Edgar

Captain Henry Chapman Swango (1837-1863), the youngest son of Abraham and Deborah Swango, was a captain in the Fifth Kentucky Infantry Regiment. Chap's grandfather, Abraham Swango, was a lessee of George Washington. (Photo courtesy of O. C. Helton, 1886 Hanes Road, Beavercreek, OH 45432-2404.)

County, Illinois, to Nancy Jane Hanks.

Here is the submitter's line of descent (with year of birth) from Lawrence Kelly, including the tie to George Washington's Spencer line, through Patience Spencer:

1727 - Lawrence Kelly.

1727 - John Patrick Kelley, married Annie (?).

1760 - Jonathan Kelly, married Patience Spencer.

1798 - Jonathan Kelly, Jr., married (1) Nancy Bailey, (2) Ann Olinger.

1834 - Mary Kelly, married Joseph Wynn (born 1829).

1871 - Rebecca Wynn, married James A. Creech (born 1872).

1909 - Minty Creech, married Bert Dean (born 1903).

1930 - Lloyd Dean (the submitter), married Arvetta Plank (born 1932).

Lloyd Dean, 6770 U. S. 60 E, Morehead, KY 40351, shares this story written by Helen Price Stacy of West Liberty, Morgan County, Kentucky. Mr. Dean contributes his work to our magazine from time to time.

This is the Charles and Bertha Fultz family, taken at a gathering some time before 1950, at the old homeplace on Big Sinking Road at Olive Hill, Carter County, Kentucky. Pictured (l-r): Willis, Alex, Arvill, Wayne, Johnny, Bertha, Charles, Arthur, Irene (Greenhill), Bess (Wilburn), and Jean (Greenhill). No other information was given about this photo or family.

(Photo courtesy of June Fultz, 4243 Big Sinking Road, Olive Hill, KY 41164.)

St. Jerome, the first Catholic church in the Jackson Purchase area, was built in Graves County in 1836.